Nine-year-old, Leonard Whitten's family seems to have it all. Money, big house, expensive cars, successful, family business, but, that all amounts to nothing in God's eyes as they soon learn. Temptation wreaks through their house like the odor of a skunk as it tears them apart, so that the one thing that can bring them back together again is Faith in God. Leonard must learn what to do and journeys to a whole new world in his sleep to figure it out. The world of Bu Zing seems to resemble his own reality in the effect that it's a kingdom of chaos and the only Way to save it is to put the Prince of Peace on the Throne. It is a feat that many families need to perform around the globe, but will the Whittens be one of them that succeeds?

"The first Easter, eh? That would have been something for a sharp-eyed Roman investigator." He barked a short laugh: "One executed prisoner, mission accomplished and . . . boom--all of a sudden they stand there with an empty tomb! Well, isn't that something . . ." The conversation came to an end. The only thing that broke the silence was the sound of the ripping of envelopes and flicking through of papers. Had John H. Watson lifted his eyes, he would have seen that something had changed in the other man's appearance. The listless expression on his face had disappeared, and was now replaced by intense concentration. Sherlock sprang up from his chair, his eyes crystal clear, in that unmistakable way that bore witness that something had awoken inside his brain. He turned to John and emphatically declared: "I'll take the case!" How would the world's greatest investigator handle the strangest disappearance in history? From Ash Wednesday to Easter Morning, Sherlock Holmes and John Watson travel through present-day England to establish what actually happened to the executed prisoner Jesus of Nazareth. Can Sherlock solve all problems which may arise along the way? And what is the solution to The Sixth-grade twins Bryant and Bryce, and their precocious cousin Kate, face off with seventh-grader Rich, not knowing that Rich's evolutionist attorney dad is in a conspiracy, with a famous TV host of a major TV network, to ridicule the Christian faith on a nationally televised debate. While Kate, Miss Young Philosopher, delves into her dad's library, Bryant, Mr. Young Historian and Bryce, Mr. Young Archaeologist consult authoritative experts. The extensive research led them to more questions: How did the universe begin? Did it begin at all? Or, did it always exist? Can a man walk on water today? What about 2,000 years ago?

Written by an educator, minister, and writer of children's curriculum materials, this book provides easy-to-do and easy-to-understand methods for developing good children's sermons. Using appropriate scriptures for insight into our relationship with the children in our midst, author Janet Helme takes you step-by-step through the process of developing a successful children's sermon. Topics include: why you should do a children's sermon, how to craft it, what to do about the adults in the pews, tools, insights, and sample sermons.

Sunday school teaching is a perverse affair. Many teachers hide the origins of Christianity behind miraculous stories because they fear that telling what really occurred would attract no one. Of course, some teachers have only the stories because they teach a subject they do not know. These people do wrong or, theologically speaking, they sin. As a corrective, Sunday School Sins presents a humorous romp through early Christianity. The book details the origins of the faith, presenting in an entertaining fashion what scholars have known and have been writing about in academic journals for the last two hundred years.

This Bible Study guide and Devotional contains 21 lessons, that have been pulled from the pages of the Gospel of Mark. They are designed to promote spiritual growth, and right living in the personal and family lives of those who choose to read and incorporate them. These lessons are simple and straightforward, as is Mark's Gospel account, and are most helpful in one understanding the actions of JESUS CHRIST, more so than HIS words. This book is most helpful to those who are aspiring to develop good Christian living practices and behavior, and to improve their personal, experiential relationship with GOD.

In the Gospel of John, Jesus three times admonishes Peter to "feed my sheep." Theologians suspect the three repeats harken back to Peter's three denials. I think it simply underscores how important it is to build and nourish the worldly flock. All Christian leaders must nourish and grow their respective flocks. However, when facing a group of youth of various ages, this can be daunting. How do you keep their attention? Particularly for modern social media-addicted youth who are so easily BORED. Our solution has been to look for a hook to gain and keep their attention. In that spirit, this book collected the ideas that worked for us. Also, when planning a Sunday school program, you will occasionally need to inspire, encourage, and support other adult leaders. This book is a collection of those stories, along with youth activities and games. While we did use scripture and Bible stories in our programs, the focus of our approach was to draw on examples from nature and popular culture that point to God. Then once you can grab their attention, together you can lead them to a deeper understanding of Scripture while they open new insights to you.

Nineteen sermons on the resurrection of Christ taken from the pages of The Sword Of The Lord.

A Christian's walk is challenging, and trials can be overwhelming at times. But through the birth, perfect life, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ, we have hope in the ability to overcome life's challenges. Find out how we are saved by His life. - Inside this booklet: - Introduction - "He has risen!" - The resurrection of Jesus Christ: Miracle of the Ages - Christ's Resurrection: Bigger Than Easter - A defining teaching - Sign of the Messiah - Christ our Passover - "We shall be saved by His life" - Conclusion

John's Gospel was most likely written sometime between A.D. 85 and 95. His depiction of JESUS is the most theological of the four gospels. He presents to us, a JESUS WHO existed with GOD, and, as GOD, even before the creation of the universe. John's unique style confront's us with an overwhelming necessity to believe on our LORD and SAVIOR. He shows JESUS as the focus of a spiritual struggle between the forces of light and darkness, love and hate, and most of all, life and death. The four Gospels are our primary source of information about JESUS. And while they do not provide us with a biography of HIS life, they do present us with a clear picture of HIS person, and HIS works. It is my hope that these commentaries will help develop a better understanding of this gospel account, and that the reader will be able to make a decision to give their life to CHRIST, and if they already have, hopefully it will help them grow in their Christian walk, so, they too, can win others to CHRIST.

Unit 1: Rejoice In these lessons the boys and girls will hear the stories of Holy Week and Easter. They will celebrate Jesus' triumphal entry into Jerusalem and hear his message of "remember me" from the Last Supper. On Easter Sunday they will celebrate with the women who found the empty tomb and recognize that Jesus had truly risen from the dead. On the last Sunday in March they will hear the story of Emmaus Road and how two travelers encountered Jesus but didn't know it until they had broken bread together. Unit 2: Who was Paul? How did he go from being a man who persecuted Christians to a man who converted Christians? The children will hear the stories of Paul's experience on the Damascus Road and how he was finally able to join the disciples in Jerusalem to carry the good news of Jesus to the Gentiles. Unit 3: Travels With Paul The children will go on the road with Paul as he travels through his Mediterranean World, all the while carrying the message of Jesus with him wherever he went. The children will be introduced to Silas and the jailer and Priscilla and Aquila along the way. During this unit, the children will also celebrate the festival of Pentecost--the birthday of the Christian church. One Teacher Book is included in the Spring Resource Kit (036291). If an additional Teacher Book is needed, order this resource. The Teacher book includes easy lesson plans for working with children of different ages in a single classroom. Includes teacher helps, lesson planning guides, and more.
