Een waanzinnig betoverende serie die met geen ander is te vergelijken. De ijzige verloofde is het eerste deel van de betoverende Spiegelpassante-serie van Christelle Dabos. Treed binnen in een fabelachtig universum van zwevende arken en familieclans vol intriganten... Ophelia, een eigenzinnig buitenbeentje en onbegrepen genie, heeft unieke gaven: ze kan door spiegels reizen en ze kan met haar handen de geschiedenis van voorwerpen lezen. Ze leidt een rustig bestaan op de ark Anima. Tot ze onverwachts wordt uitgehuwelijkt aan Thorn, een introvert maar invloedrijk lid van de Drakenclan. Ophelia is gedwongen haar verloofde te volgen naar de Hemelburcht op de ijzige ark Pool, waar niemand te vertrouwen is. Daar ontdekt ze dat ze een pion is in een politiek spel dat niet alleen verschrikkelijke gevolgen heeft voor haar eigen leven, maar ook voor haar geliefde ark Anima. Christelle Dabos is inmiddels uitgegroeid tot een van de populairste YA-schrijvers in Frankrijk, waar haar boeken regelrechte bestsellers zijn. Ook in andere landen is deze serie een ware hype. De ijzige verloofde is in Duitsland genomineerd voor de gerenommeerde Deutscher Jugendliteraturpreis. De Nederlandse vertaling is van Eef Gratama. This collection makes available in English twelve papers by the distinguished French scholar Professor Jacques Brunschwig. The essays deal with problems arising in the texts and doctrines of the three major philosophical schools of the Hellenistic period - Epicureanism, Stoicism and Scepticism.

The fear of oblivion obsessed medieval and early modern Europe. Stone, wood, cloth, parchment, and paper all provided media onto which writing was inscribed as a way to ward off loss. And the task was not easy in a world in which writing could be destroyed, manuscripts lost, or books menaced with destruction. Paradoxically, the successful spread of printing posed another danger, namely, that an uncontrollable proliferation of textual materials, of matter without order or limit, might allow useless texts to multiply and smother thought. Not everything written was destined for the archives; indeed, much was written on surfaces that allowed one to write, erase, then write again. In Inscription and Erasure, Roger Chartier seeks to demonstrate how the tension between these two concerns played out in the imaginative works of their times. Chartier examines how authors transformed the material realities of writing and publication into an aesthetic resource exploited for poetic, dramatic, or narrative ends. The process that gave form to writing in its various modes--public or private, ephemeral or permanent--thus became the very material of literary invention. Chartier's chapters follow a thread of reading and interpretation that takes us from the twelfth-century French poet Baudri of Bourgueil, sketching out his poems on wax tablets before they are committed to parchment, through Cervantes in the seventeenth century, who places a "book of memory," in which poems and letters are to be recopied, in the path of his fictional Don Quixote.

This open access book provides new methodological and theoretical insights into temporal reference and its linguistic expression, from a cross-linguistic experimental corpus pragmatics approach. Verbal tenses, in general, and more specifically the categories of tense, grammatical and lexical aspect are treated as cohesion ties contributing to the temporal coherence of a discourse, as well as to the cognitive temporal coherence of the mental representations built in the language comprehension process. As such, it investigates the phenomenon of temporal reference at the interface between corpus linguistics, theoretical linguistics and pragmatics, experimental pragmatics, psycholinguistics, natural language processing and machine translation.

Een urgent, elegant en uiteindelijk hoopvol essay van de auteur van De eenzaamheid van de priemgetallen en De hemel verslinden. De corona-epidemie dreigt de grootste gezondheidsdreiging van onze tijd te worden. Het legt de verschillende niveaus bloot waarop wij tegenwoordig met elkaar verbonden zijn - het maakt niet uit wie of waar we zijn, wat we nu meemaken gaat voorbij aan landsgrenzen, identiteiten en culturen. De verspreiding van het virus maakt ondubbelzinnig duidelijk hoezeer onze wereld geglobaliseerd is. De epidemie moedigt ons aan de wereldbevolking als één grote samenleving te zien en dwingt ons om in te zien dat individuele keuzes gevolgen hebben voor iedereen. De samenleving waar we ons nu mee bezig moeten houden, is de gehele mensheid. De wereldwijde bestsellerauteur Paolo Giordano schreef vanuit zijn wetenschappelijke achtergrond met In tijden van besmetting een glashelder, indringend en belangwekkend betoog.

This is the fifth and final volume of the critically acclaimed catalogue raisonné of the Belgian surrealist artist Rene Magritte, edited by David Sylvester. This volume is the essential supplement to the series, including a 57 page index, a 155 page annotated bibliography (about 3,000 items), an exhibition list, a catalogue of commercial works and important revisions to the four earlier volumes, written by Sarah Whitfield and Michael Raeburn. As a whole, the series (Volumes I-V) presents an authoritative survey of the artist's oeuvre, from 1916 to his death in 1967. The text provides a systematic survey of his oil paintings (I-III), objects (II-III), bronzes (III), gouaches, temperas, watercolors and papiers collés (IV). Volume V completes the series that is widely recognized as an indispensable reference for Magritte scholars and admirers alike.

This volume covers aspects of opera translation within the Western world and in Asia, as well as some of opera's many travels between continents, countries, languages and cultures—and also between genres and media. The concept of 'adaptation' is a thread running through the sixteen contributions, which encompass a variety of composers, operas, periods and national traditions. Sung translation, libretto translation, surtitling, subtitling are discussed from a range of theoretical and methodological perspectives. Exploration of aspects such as the relationship between language and music, multimodality, intertextuality, cultural and linguistic transfer, multilingualism, humour, identity and stereotype, political ideology, the translator's voice and the role of the audience is driven by a shared motivation: a love of opera and of the beauty it has never ceased to provide through the centuries, and admiration for the people who write, compose, perform, direct, translate, or otherwise contribute to making the joy of opera a part of our lives.
