

What Do You Think Of That

“Step aside Dr. Phil; move over Dr. Oz. I truly believe that Dr. Tina Thomas is to personality psychology what Einstein was to physics . . .” (Eric Schulze, MD, PhD, researcher, CEO Lifetrack Medical Systems). As Dr. Thomas explains, “There is no such thing as a difficult person, just people with difficult personalities!” Those who understand personality and its biological basis never look at themselves or others in the same way again. Understanding personality this way will help you to understand what motivates you and others. This will also improve your ability to communicate. Who Do You Think You Are? will teach you how to adjust your internal and external environments to optimize your specific personality chemistry to become the person you always hoped you could be and create the life circumstances you only dreamed were possible. And, if that isn’t extraordinary enough, this new knowledge will create more compassion within yourself and more peace within all the relationships you ever had, have now, or will have in the future. Understanding yourself from the inside out may be the single most important body of information you ever need to reach your full potential. Who do you think you are? You may be delighted and surprised when you discover yourself this way! “Dr. T has an uncanny ability to combine the art of psychology and the science of biology to create elegant ways to increase self-compassion, improve relationships and help people to become self-actualized.”

—Richard Tscherne, PhD, clinical psychologist, director of The Gestalt Institute and Relationship Center of New York

This book is for women who know, perhaps only deep in their heart, that they need an answer to the question, "Do you think I'm beautiful?" Readers will come to understand that the question is uniquely feminine, placed there by the Creator to woo them to Himself. Along the way, women will learn about the distractions that can keep them from the One who calls them beautiful, what it takes to return to His embrace, and what delights await them there. Angela's skillful, moving writing style is peppered with warm and funny stories from her own life that readers will immediately identify with. And the practical Bible teaching Angela offers will help readers bridge the gulf between the life a woman longs for and the life she actually has.

Geoffrey Galt Harpham's book takes its title from a telling anecdote. A few years ago Harpham met a Cuban immigrant on a college campus, who told of arriving, penniless and undocumented, in the 1960s and eventually earning a GED and making his way to a community college. In a literature course one day, the professor asked him, "Mr. Ramirez, what do you think?" The question, said

Ramirez, changed his life because “it was the first time anyone had asked me that.” Realizing that his opinion had value set him on a course that led to his becoming a distinguished professor. That, says Harpham, was the midcentury promise of American education, the deep current of commitment and aspiration that undergirded the educational system that was built in the postwar years, and is under extended assault today. The United States was founded, he argues, on the idea that interpreting its foundational documents was the highest calling of opinion, and for a brief moment at midcentury, the country turned to English teachers as the people best positioned to train students to thrive as interpreters—which is to say as citizens of a democracy. Tracing the roots of that belief in the humanities through American history, Harpham builds a strong case that, even in very different contemporary circumstances, the emphasis on social and cultural knowledge that animated the midcentury university is a resource that we can, and should, draw on today.

What Do YOU Think? is a book by Thomas J. Doubt to stimulate thinking about aspects of everyday life that may not be on our front burners. Many people board a commercial airline each day; few, if any, might reflect on how the safety briefing might be used to tell someone about Jesus. A morning cup of coffee often allows us to ponder how our day might go, but does it draw our attention to warnings in the Bible? Riding a golf cart to the first tee probably does not inspire thoughts about our journey of faith. Jesus began several of his teaching moments by asking a simple question. What do you think? His intent was not to solicit personal opinions. The world is neck deep in personal opinions lacking a divine foundation. From the beginning, the Word that became flesh and dwelt among us wanted our brains to be engaged by his words so our thoughts might travel from mind to heart, and from heart to action. What Do YOU Think? is a book that follows the model of Jesus. Stories to stimulate thinking, scriptures to encourage the heart, and in the end, conviction to choose a better path.

This is a tale of a loving family facing various problems on a daily basis as they try to reach California in the 1800s. Their final destination is not what they had planned, but they learn to cope with a variety of tribulations and unexpected events as they survive a new frontier and make new friends along the way.

In seven short stories Malcolm Bradbury takes a subtly ironic look at a variety of targets: American academics, provincial Britain, the aspirations of social workers, psychologists, the well-intentioned. . . In addition he delights us with an irreverent and hilarious series of parodies of some of the greatest paradigms of the British and American literary scenes: a passage from Iris Murdoch's little-known The Sublime and the Ridiculous; Muriel Spark (a whole novel); the fifth volume of Durrell's Alexandria Quartet; John Osborne; J. D. Salinger and many more. 'A very funny book indeed. Malcolm Bradbury is a satirist of great assurance and accomplishment' Observer 'Bradbury's eye is sharp, his trigger-finger steady and unafraid, and his range and explosive power devastating' The Times Anonymous Eternity! Do you care where you will spend eternity? God's Word affirms that we have souls that will never cease to exist. Even when we die, our souls continue to exist. And when the Lord Jesus Christ will return in glory to this world, all the dead will be raised again, to stand before Him in judgment. Eternal happiness with God or eternal sorrow under His judgment will follow. Are you ready? Do you think about your place in eternity?

People often talk about worldview when describing the philosophy that guides their lives. But how have we come by our worldviews, and what impact did Christianity have on those that are common to Western civilization? This authoritative, accessible survey traces the development of the worldviews that underpin the Western world. It demonstrates the decisive impact that the growth of Christianity had in transforming the outlook of pagan Roman culture into one that, based on biblical concepts of humanity and its relationship with God, established virtually all the positive aspects of Western civilization. The two-pronged assault in our time on the biblically based worldview by postmodern philosophy and the writings of neo-atheists has made it even more crucial that we acknowledge and defend its historical roots. Unique among books on the topic, this work discusses Western worldviews as a continuous narrative rather than as simply a catalogue of ideas, and traces the effects changes in worldview had on society. It helps readers understand their own worldviews and those of other people and helps them recognize the consequences that worldviews hold. Professors, students, and armchair historians alike will profit from this book.

WHO ARE YOU? WHAT DEFINES YOU? WHAT IS YOUR IDENTITY? How you answer those questions affects every aspect of your life: personal, public, and spiritual. So it's vital to get the answer right. Pastor and best-selling author Mark Driscoll believes false identity is at the heart of many struggles—and that you can overcome them by having your true identity in Christ. In Who Do You Think You Are?, Driscoll explores the question, “What does it mean to be ‘in Christ’?” In the process he dissects the false-identity epidemic and, more important, provides the only solution—Jesus. “This book will give you an unshakeable, biblical understanding of who you are in Christ. When you know who you are, you’ll know what to do.” —Craig Groeschel, Senior Pastor of LifeChurch.tv and author of Soul Detox, Clean Living in a Contaminated World “I spent years in ministry for Christ without understanding my identity in Christ. I know now that I was not alone. When, by the grace of God, we understand who we are in Christ, everything else can crumble and we will still be standing. I highly commend this book to you.” —Sheila Walsh, speaker and author of God Loves Broken People

“Do you like poetry, and how it can help you see things differently? Brian’s poetry both comes from and points us to our inherent oneness as it encourages and gives permission for us to soften, to empathize, and to validate both our human and divine realities. I love reading a poem, drinking it in, and not being in a big rush to digest another. The book encourages the opposite. It reminds us to slow down and have reverence for each moment. I imagine it could be a perfect bedside book, where you can go to sleep and wake up by reading a poem. Let Brian’s gifts nurture and refresh your soul.” —Scott Grace, author of How To Evolve During The Trump Experience

Whether Humanity Joins You Or Not “One purpose of poetry is to help us awaken out of a dream of false reality. Brian’s poems do just that, offering a tasty tidbit of a higher reality in each one.” —Barry and Joyce Vissell, authors of The Shared Heart, Risk To Be Healed, How To Love A Man, & How To Love A Woman. (SharedHeart.org)

“Occasionally, though rarely, we find a work of words that touches our “forgetting mind,” and we remember the truth of Who we really are. Brian’s way of expressing his poetry is such a rarity. Thank you Brian for walking the path and with your words helping us to find the Light to follow you.” —Tom Carpenter, author of Dialogue On Awakening, The Miracle Of Real Forgiveness, & Let Love Find You shame, low self-esteem; these are just some of the words used to identify how people are controlled by others' opinions. Why is it so important to be liked? Why is rejection so traumatic? Edward T. Welch's insightful, biblical answers to these questions show that freedom from others' opinions and genuine, loving relationships grow as we learn about ourselves, others, and God. This interactive book includes questions for individual or group study and is suitable for teenagers and young adults.

Italy observed and recounted with irony and affection, but without indulgence, in its most evident features and its most hidden depths: the rituals, the festivities, pastimes, food, passions, and great historical defects. It is a satirical or semi-serious gallery of characters (the politician, the teacher, the doctor, the "Moroccan," the notary, the cabineer, the big eater . . .) that make the social and human climate of a country unmistakable.

Rev. James Wesley Straughn takes you through a complex story of mankind, which includes some of the various thoughts about beginnings. It contains thought provoking answers to some of life's mystery questions. Why a creation called mankind? What's our purpose? What's our destiny? How did we get so far off track? Why can't we get along with each other? Can we have any hope for the future? This book presents a "map" of the life of mankind that should allow you to discover who you are and where you are in God's plan for mankind. It contains some surprising revelations about many familiar and unfamiliar subjects, some of which are very controversial. Rev. (Jim) Straughn and his wife Shirley were married in 1954 and have 7 children, 25 grandchildren, and 7 great grandchildren (and still counting). Jim became a Christian in 1949 at age 15, and after a 21+ years Air Force Career, became entrenched in the Gospel of Jesus Christ while working full time to retirement as a Senior Telephone Engineer. He was an accomplished Air Force Instructor, and while studying under Bishop Herman Curtis Stokes, he moved into a depth of understanding of the Word and Kingdom of God at an uncommon pace. Many men of God, from 1949 to date, have influenced his hunger to question, research and dig deep into the concepts and context of scriptural subjects. Rev. Straughn credits the Holy Spirit for his education of the Word, and development of his own unique presentation of God's Word. He was pastor of a church in Washington State for 4 years wherein it became clear his pulpit ministry was teaching.

Many times we find ourselves in situations that leave us feeling as if God has forgotten about us. We think things like, "Why doesn't God help me?" Often, we take what seems to be the easy road, only to find out we should have taken a different direction. W. D. Taylor was a teen when he went so far out of God's will that he found himself in prison, chained up like a dog. While being locked up as a young man, he found out that God does answer our prayers. Now, as he looks back over the years, he can say that he has seen firsthand how God works through prayer and trust in Jesus Christ, his Lord and Savior. Sometimes the way we think we should go is not the way God had intended for us. We live in a world full of all kinds of choices, and God gives us the freedom to choose; you can choose your way or his way. One thing is for sure, though: God knows what is best for us, and through prayer and trust in Jesus Christ, you can find his will for your life.

thirst for adventure and an unparalleled ability to tell the stories of his life. "What Do You Care What Other People Think?" is Feynman's last literary legacy, prepared with his friend and fellow drummer, Ralph Leighton. Among its many tales—some funny, others intensely moving—we meet Feynman's first wife, Arlene, who taught him of love's irreducible mystery as she lay dying in a hospital bed while he worked nearby on the atomic bomb at Los Alamos. We are also given a fascinating narrative of the investigation of the space shuttle Challenger's explosion in 1986, and we relive the moment when Feynman revealed the disaster's cause by an elegant experiment: dropping a ring of rubber into a glass of cold water and pulling it out, misshapen.

From the ever-curious mind that brought you the bestselling Do You Think You're Clever? comes a brand-new trip to the far reaches of the intellectual universe, courtesy of even more notoriously provocative Oxbridge interview questions. How would you poison someone without the police finding out? (Medicine, Cambridge) What makes a strong woman? (Theology, Oxford) Instead of politicians, why don't we let the managers of IKEA run the country? (Social and Political Sciences, Cambridge) How do you organise a successful revolution? (History, Oxford) Whether you're interested in going to Oxbridge or just want to give your brain a workout, join polymath John Farndon on another exhilarating journey through the twists and turns of thought, and explore just what it means to be genuinely clever – rather than just smart. Who we are affects everything: what we do, what we say, how we feel about ourselves, how we deal with difficult times and how we think about the future. As Christians we have been born again and given a completely new identity, but that identity can only make a difference to our lives if we know about it. Who In Heaven's Name Do You Think You Are? explores thirteen elements of our new identity as Christians. Each chapter includes a Check-Up section with questions and an activity to help you apply the truth to your life. Also included are Group Study Guides, designed to help you if you want to use Who In Heaven's Name Do You Think You Are? as the basis for group discussion.

Shortlisted for the 2016 Amazon.ca First Novel Award Longlisted for the 2016 Leacock Medal for Humour Writing Winner of an Independent Publishers Book Award (IPPY) Seventeen-year-old Freddy is having a rough year. First, he is expelled from school for fighting. Now, at his new school, he is required to have regular conversations with a counselorâ€”an awkward situation for anyone, really, but even more so for Freddy, who has autism. But then Saskiaâ€”a fair-haired girl who is non-verbalâ€”appears at his new school and his memories start to unravel. When they were children, Freddy and Saskia attended the same group therapy sessions, and he hasn't seen her in ten years. Now, not only does his unconventional relationship with Saskia provide him a place of respite in a difficult world, it sets a chain of meetings and events in motion that reveal a long-hidden family secret, and bring Freddy to a renewed understanding of his life and a freeing moment of truth. Telling a story that evokes The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time by Mark Haddon and The Rosie

Just How Dumb Do You Think I Am! Makes you ask yourself this question; "When scientists and scholars are trying to push their theories and ideas off on you?" This book contains some of the Lords answers to them. With cross references in the Bible, that prove out the validity of the word of God and its references to the everyday Life we live and about prophesies coming to pass and about creation verses evolution. It tells some of the problems I have encountered and some of the people around me. It dispels evolution and what a lot of scientists are saying about the big bang theory. It tells about a vision the Lord gave me, about Spiritual dreams that I had; these things only God could know about. God brought me back to life six times! He also inspired me to write this book. You will not be disappointed! Samuel H. Goodwin was born in 1942 in Aztec, New Mexico. In the early sixties he served his country in the Armed Forces, stationed in South Korea and Fort Polk, Louisiana. As a born again Christian Mr. Goodwin worked as a Union Industrial Asbestos Insulator on electric generating powerhouses across the United States, spreading the Gospel of Jesus Christ to his fellow employees, as he felt guided by the Lord. Many times he has felt the protection and guidance of Christ in his travels. Today Mr. Goodwin resides with his wife on his farm in Oklahoma and is a faithful member and Deacon of his local Christian church.

From hikers encountering grizzly bears to doctors in makeshift Haitian hospitals, the characters in Do You Think You'll Ever Go Back? are full of curiosity and persistence. Many of these stories follow doctors at various points in their careers, offering a glimpse into tensions and personal dynamics of medical professionals, especially in life-or-death situations. As the sole practitioner in a remote First Nations community, an inexperienced resident finds himself in a tense and life-threatening situation when he accompanies an unconscious man being airlifted to Winnipeg; a doctor tries to save an elderly woman's life while her husband looks on, and later questions his profession's fixation with saving lives at all costs; when a doctor practicing in the United Arab Emirates is summoned to attend to a young sheikh, he tries to navigate the demanding culture and privilege of a private medical system. At times, these stories are as piercing as they are compassionate. A man is attacked in a laundromat and realizes the system has failed both him and his attacker; volunteering for bird banding in the wilderness, an enthusiastic birder joins a reclusive stranger in the bush and witnesses the steady decline of a man in withdrawal; a man attends to his dying aunt and discovers the various forms of denial and grief in his family. With nearly fifty stories, this collection strives to understand human nature. Do You Think You'll Ever Go Back? is as generous as it is thoughtful—a must-read for anyone interested in the subtleties of the human condition.
